Note generali	By Mary Evelyn. The preface was probably written by John Evelyn, the author's father. Partly in verse. "The fop-dictionary" has separate dated title page; pagination and register are continuous. Apparently there are two editions with "second edition" on the title page. In each edition quire A is in the same setting of type, but quires B-D have been reset. In this edition the separate dated title page line 2 has a semi-colon following "fop-dictionary" and the "C" of signature-mark "C2" is partly under the "n" and "d" of "understood". Reproduction of the original in the William Andrews Clark Memorial Library.
