naniel <1609?-1674.> blogia, or, A treatise of moneths and years [[electronic : comprehending a survey of the solar and lunar moneths a description of the moneths and years heretofore in use Hebrews, Babylonians, Persians, Egyptians, Grecians, and ancient Latines : an accommodation of all the said nd years to the present Julian and Gregorian : together with a : comprehending a survey of the solar and lunar moneths a description of the moneths and years heretofore in use Hebrews, Babylonians, Persians, Egyptians, Grecians, and ancient Latines : an accommodation of all the said asie directory for the finding out of the golden number, cycle : to which is also adjoyned, an abridgement of the history d from the creation unto Christ, and a continuation of the ory from Christ to this present : with a reduction of the era's ffer, of the Olympiads, of Rome ab urbe condita, and of unto Scriptural accounts, and an adjustment of them vvith er, very necessary for the understanding of the writings of the with many other chronological and mathematical hs, no less useful than delightful / / composed by Nathaniel Printed by J. Macock, for the Company of Stationers, 1657
] p a stampa a
on of original in Bodleian Library.