

|                         |                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Record Nr.           | UNISA996389295803316                                                                                                                                       |
| Autore                  | Pecke Thomas <b. 1637.>                                                                                                                                    |
| Titolo                  | An elegie upon the never satisfactorily deplored death of that rare column of Parnassus, Mr. Iohn Cleeveland [[electronic resource]]                       |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa      | London, : Printed by W. Godbid, for Henry Marsh at the Princes Arms at the lower end of Chancery Lane, near the Inner Temple gate in Fleetstreet, 1658     |
| Descrizione fisica      | 1 sheet ([1] p.)                                                                                                                                           |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Inglese                                                                                                                                                    |
| Formato                 | Materiale a stampa                                                                                                                                         |
| Livello bibliografico   | Monografia                                                                                                                                                 |
| Note generali           | Attributed to Thomas Pecke.In two columns.Verse: "Is Cleeveland dead and not one weeping pen".Reproduction of original in the British Library. |
| Sommario/riassunto      | eebo-0018                                                                                                                                                  |