

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996391992903316
Autore	Dury John <1596-1680.>
Titolo	Conscience eased: or, the main scruple which hath hitherto stuck most with conscionable men, against the taking of the Engagement removed [[electronic resource] ] : Where amongst other things is shewed, first, how farre the oath of allegiance, and the nationall League and Covenant are obligations; either in their legall intents unalterable or at this time no more binding and alterable. Secondly. How farre in a free people the subordinate officers of the state, have a right to judge of the proceedings of a king in that state. Thirdly, how Zedekia'es case in breaking his oath to the king of Babylon, and our case in making use of our freedome from the oath of allegiance, and supremacie to the king of England doe differ. // The author, John Dury
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : Printed for T.H. in Russell-street, neere the Piazza of the Covent-Garden, 1651
Descrizione fisica	[2], 37 [i.e. 38] p
Soggetti	Loyalty oaths - England
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Pages 25-38 misnumbered. Annotation on Thomason copy: "feb.25 1650", also the last two numbers of the imprint date have been marked through. Reproduction of the original in the British Library.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0018