

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996392385903316
Autore	Greenwood Nicholas <fl. 1689.>
Titolo	Astronomia anglicana [[electronic resource] ] : containing an absolute and entire piece of astronomy : wherein is succinctly handled the trigonometrical part, generally propounded, and particularly apply'd in all questions tending to diurnal motion, especially respecting the main doctrine of the second motions of the luminaries, and the other planets, together with their affections, as eclipses, &c. : composed according to the best observations, and grounded upon the most rational hypothesis yet constituted : with new, facile, and most exact tables, whereby the planets places may speedily be attained both in longitude and latitude for any time past, present, or to come and precepts for calculating eclipses, yet far more easie, expedite and perspicuous than any heretofore extant : fitted to the meridian of the most famous and ancient metropolis London, and chiefly intended for the use of our English nation, and especially mariners // by Nicholas Greenwood .
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : Printed by John Harefinch, for William Hensman ..., 1689
Descrizione fisica	[8], 260 : ill
Soggetti	Astronomy Sphere
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	"Doktrina sphairika: or, The doctrine of the sphere", "Doktrina theorika; or, A new theory of the cÅlestial motions", and "Astronomia anglicana" each have separate dated title page on leaf B1r, H1r, and O2r, respectively; pagination and register are continuous. First two words of B1r and H1r title page transliterated from Greek. Reproduction of original in the Folger Shakespeare Library.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0021