

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996392957403316
Titolo	The delights of the bottle: or, The town-gallants declaration for women and wine [[electronic resource] ] : Being a description of a town-bred gentleman, with all his intreagus, pleasure, company, humour, and conversations. Gallants, from faults he cannot be exempt, who doth a task so difficult attempt; I know I shall not hit your features right, 'tis hard to imitate in black and whight, some lines were drawn by a more skilful hand, and which they were you'l quickly understand, excuse me therefore if I do you wrong, I did but make a ballad of a song. To a most admirable new tune, every where much in request
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[London], : Printed for P. Brooksby, at the Golden ball, near the Hospital-gate, in West-smithfield., [1675]
Descrizione fisica	1 sheet ([1] p.) : ill. (woodcuts)
Altri autori (Persone)	ShadwellThomas <1642?-1692.>
Soggetti	Drinking songs - Texts Ballads, English - 17th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	"The first two stanzas were written originally by Thomas Shadwell for his opera Psyche, in 1675"--NUC pre-1956 imprints. Verse: "The delights of the bottle, & the charms of good wine ..." Place and date of publication suggested by Wing. Reproduction of original in the Harvard University, Houghton Library and the British Library.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0216