Titolo	The interest of England in the matter of religion [[electronic resource]] : unfolded in the solution of these three questions. I. Q. Whether the Presbyterian party shold in justice of reason of state by rejected and depressed, or protected and incouraged. II. Q. Whether the Presbyterian party may be protected and incouraged, and the Episcopal not deserted nor disobliged. III. Q. Whether the upholding of both parties by a just and equal accommodation, be not in it self more desi[r]eable and more agreeable to the state of England, then the absolute exalting of the one party, and the total subversion of the other. / / Written by J.C
