

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996393206203316
Autore	Lee Nathaniel <1653?-1692.>
Titolo	The true lovers tragedy [[electronic resource]] : being an incomparable ballad of a gentleman and his lady, that both killed themselves for love, under the disguised names of Philander and Phillis, Phillis Philanders scattered garments finds, and thinks him slain, for which with fate she joyns, and with her fatal poiard striketh deep, as life no longer can it's station keep, the crimson streams so fast flowd from her veins, yet dying, of her loves dear loss complains: no sooner death had closed up her starry eyes, but her return'd Philander her espyes; and finding that for him she lost her breath, he kills himself, and crowns his love with death. To the tune of, Ah cruel bloody fate
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[London], : Printed for P[hilip]. Brooksby, at the Golden Ball, near West-Smithfield., [between 1680-1682]
Descrizione fisica	1 sheet ([1] p.) : ill. (woodcuts)
Soggetti	Ballads, English - 17th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Verse: "Ah cruel bloody fate ..." Author, date, place of publication and publisher's name suggested by Wing. Reproduction of original in the Harvard University, Houghton Library.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0067