Titolo

The cry of blood [[electronic resource]] : And Herod, Pontius Pilate, and the Jewes reconciled, and in conspiracy with the dragon, to devour the manchilde. Being a declaration of the Lord arising in those people, of the city of Bristol, who are scornfully called Quakers, and of the manifold sufferings, and persecutions sustain'd by them ... Together with a true account of the material passages in substance between the rulers and them at their several examinations ... / Gathered up, written in a roll, and delivered to John Gunning late mayor of that city (being the fruits of his year) for the private admonition, and conviction of himself, and brethren concern'd, and named therein ... by Geo: Bishop .
