

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996394584903316
Autore	M. P (Martin Parker), <d. 1656?>
Titolo	Loues solace; or The true lovers part, & in his conclusion he shews his constant heart [[electronic resource]] : He still doth praise her for her beauty rare, and sayes there's none with her that can compare. To a new court tune called the Damaske rose
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : Printed for Francis Groue, on Snow-hill., [1632]
Descrizione fisica	1 sheet ([1] p.) : ill
Soggetti	Ballads, English - 17th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Signed: M.P. [i.e. Martin Parker]. Publication date suggested by STC. Verse: "The damaske rose nor lilly faire ..." In two parts, separated for mounting; woodcuts at head of each part; part 2 has caption title: The maidens kind answer wherein she doth agree, that he shall be her loue, and none but onely he. Reproduction of original in the British Library.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0018