

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996395273603316
Titolo	The plotter executed: or, The examination, tryal, condemnation, and execution, of Edward Coleman Esquire [[electronic resource]] : Who was convicted of high treason, the 27th. day of November, at the King-Bench-Barr at VWest-minster, for plotting against the life of his most sacred Majesty, and for endeavouring to subvert the government, and the true Protestant religion establisht: he received sentence the 28th. day of November 1678. to be drawne hang'd, and quartered, and was executed at Tyburn the 3d. Of December: with his last speech and confession, made by him at the place of execution. To the tune of, Captain Digby, or, Packington's pound
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[London], : Printed for P. Brooksby, at the Golden Ball, near the Hospital-gate, in West-smith-field., [1678]
Descrizione fisica	1 sheet ([1] p.) : ill. (woodcut)
Soggetti	Popish plot, 1678 Trials (Treason) - England Executions and executioners Ballads, English - 17th century Broadsides 17th century.England
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Imprint from Wing. Verse: "Death being forc'd to come before his hour,". Second part precedes the first and is separated from it by two unrelated images. Reproduction of original in the British Library.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0018