

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996396003703316
Titolo	The good-fellows counsel: or, The bad husbands recantation [[electronic resource]] : Proving by arguments both just and fit, that he which spends least money has most wit. To the tune of, Tan Tivye
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[London], : Printed for P. Brooksby, next the Golden Ball by the Hospital-Gate in West-Smithfield, [between 1680-1685]
Descrizione fisica	1 sheet ([1] p.) : ill. (woodcuts)
Soggetti	Ballads, English - 17th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Verse: "I had no more wit, but was trod under feet ..." Place and date of publication suggested by Wing. Item at A5:2[155] trimmed. Reproduction of original in the Harvard University, Houghton Library and the British Library.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0067