

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996396764303316
Autore	La Fin Charles de
Titolo	Sermo mirabilis: or The silent language [[electronic resource]] : Whereby one may learn prefectly [sic] in the space of six hours, how to impart his mind to any friend in any language, English, French, Dutch, &c. tho never so deep and dangerous a secret, without the least noise, word or voice; and without the knowledge of any in company. Being a wonderful art kept secret for several ages, in Padua, and now only published to the wise and prudent, who will not expose it, as a prostitute, to every foolish, and ignorant fellow. // By Monsieur La Fin, once secretary to his Eminence the Cardinal of Richlieu
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : Printed for T. Salusbury at the Kings Arms, near St. Dunstans Church in Fleetstreet, 1693
Edizione	[The second edition, /]
Descrizione fisica	[2], 14 p., [3] leaves of plates : ill
Soggetti	Sign language
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Fully engraved frontispiece features portraits of William and Mary, with accompanying verse and anagrams. Pages 13 and 14 lacking in number only. Reproduction of the original in the National Library of Scotland.
Sommario/riassunto	eebo-0097