Titolo

A short relation of some of the cruel sufferings (for the truths sake) of Katherine Evans & Sarah Chevers, in the inquisition in the Isle of Malta [[electronic resource] ] : who have suffered there above three years, by the Pope's authority, there to be detained till they dye : Which relation on of their sufferings is come from their own hands and mouths, as doth appear by the following treatise : these two daughters of Abraham were passing to Alexandria, and to Cilicia, and thus may that part of Christendom see their fruits ... but the provision which the inhabitants and knights of Malta, (called Christians) provided for them, is the inquisition ... and this is to all fellow brethren that are partakers with them in the power of God and have a feeling and fellowship with them in their sufferings, that they might see and know how it is with them, and what unkindness they find abroad among them that profess themselves Christians
