Sommario/riassunto	The two volume set LNCS 6938 and LNCS 6939 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 7th International Symposium on Visual Computing, ISVC 2011, held in Las Vegas, NV, USA, in September 2011. The 68 revised full papers and 46 poster papers presented together with 30 papers in the special tracks were carefully reviewed and selected from more than 240 submissions. The papers of part I (LNCS 6938) are organized in computational bioimaging, computer graphics, motion and tracking, segmentation, visualization; mapping modeling and surface reconstruction, biomedical imaging, computer graphics, interactive visualization in novel and heterogeneous display environments, object detection and recognition. Part II (LNCS 6939) comprises topics such as immersive visualization, applications, object detection and recognition, virtual reality, and best practices in teaching visual computing.

change and energy access for the poor -- Where's the "energy" in key UN global outcomes on sustainable development? : examining the record of UNCHE 1972-Rio+20 2012 for references to nexus between climate change and energy access for the poor -- Understanding the acronym soup of voluntary initiatives and partnerships on sustainable development within the UN content : locating energy access and climate change voluntary efforts -- Towards an integrated framework on energy access for the poor and climate change : issues to consider for the UN led post-2015 development agenda.

"This book, is exactly the expansion of the concept of energy access for poor in terms of its linkages with climate change and sustainable development that is the main focus of investigation. In this regard, the argument that is advanced is not whether and how to increase energy access for the poor, or whether and how to improve the prospects for a comprehensive climate change agreement, but instead to ask whether and how energy access for the poor has been factored into the series of key UN led intergovernmental climate change and sustainable development outputs"--
